High school presents a unique set of academic challenges. The course load is heavier, the pace is quicker, and juggling multiple subjects along with extracurricular activities can prove to be difficult. Study skills are the backbone of your academic success. Developing good study skills in high school will help you in college and in your careers with better time management and increased self-confidence. You will learn:

- Effective time management
- Note-taking techniques
- Prioritization
- Creative study techniques
- Organizational skills
- Active listening skills

Required materials for the class are:

- Pencil or pen
- Notebook

Some quotes from UVA students Mrs. Claiborne has worked with:

“Thank you for helping me organize myself and figure out how I study best. I appreciate you taking time with me!” ~ Will S.

“I still use the techniques that you taught me and they really work for me. Thank you!” ~Leon B.

“I like the way you broke things down so I could easily understand what you were saying. I feel like I can get better grades because I know how to study better and faster. I was wasting time the way I was doing it before.” ~Anthony F.

“I never had a way of keeping track of my assignments that made sense. Thank you for helping me do that!” ~ Terrell J.
